MARC HOLTZMAN

Biography

Marc Holtzman currently serves as President of the University of Denver. Previously, Holtzman was a member of the Cabinet of Governor Bill Owens as Colorado's first Secretary of Technology. As Secretary, Holtzman is widely credited for having guided Colorado's evolution into a fully diversified technology hub. Under Holtzman's leadership, Colorado was ranked first in the nation for the highest percentage of technology workers in its workforce.

In 1989, Holtzman founded a successful investment-banking firm specializing in Eastern Europe and Russia which was subsequently acquired by ABN Amro Bank, NV of The Netherlands, ranked among the world's largest financial institutions. Holtzman currently serves as non-executive Vice Chairman of ABN Amro Corporate Finance. Recognized as a leading authority on economic and political developments in Eastern Europe and Russia, Holtzman was presented in 1999 with The Commander's Cross of the Order of Merit – Poland's highest civilian honor for his service to the country.

Holtzman also serves as Chairman of New Schools Development Corporation, a non-profit education group which established the Denver School for Science and Technology, a high-tech charter high school which serves inner city under-privileged youth. Holtzman was instrumental in persuading The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation to provide the initial seed gift.
